ARTILLERY

The Artillery

or Burlot is a small, low-cost ship used by the captains to deal with the largest enemy warships.

It was full of explosives, which approached the enemy ship silently and was attached to it with hooks.

He was then set on fire to cause an explosion or a large fire. The crew, the burlotieres, that is, abandoned it, while the governor left last, lighting the wick with a torch.

An important part of the ship is the "scabavia", the boat with which the crew escaped after the attachment.
